Brief Description

The cultural heritage of Cyprus constitutes the common heritage of all Cypriots and of humanity regardless of its origin. Since 2010 the United Nations Development Programme has been assisting the bi-communal Technical Committee on Cultural Heritage (TCCH) to preserve the island's cultural heritage. The overall objective of the project is to support the reconciliation process and to increase the levels of trust between the two main communities on the island – the Greek Cypriots and Turkish Cypriots. This overall objective will be achieved through the implementation of confidence building measures as agreed by the Technical Committee on Cultural Heritage. The TCCH is dedicated to the identification and safeguarding of the rich immovable cultural heritage of Cyprus, and of all its communities. The Committee works towards providing a mutually acceptable mechanism for the implementation of practical measures for the proper maintenance, preservation, physical protection and restoration of cultural heritage throughout Cyprus.

The specific objective of the project is the conservation of the church of Agios Synesios located in the Karpasia/Karpaz Peninsula. Works will be implemented on the church in 2021 and 2022 and included the structural and architectural conservation of the Church and the specialised conservation of the iconostasis, icons and other immovable objects which constitute an inherent part of the church. The works will ensure that the Church is conserved to its originality in accordance with the technical designs and drawings. The conservation project has been designed by the Church of Cyprus through a bi-communal team of architects and engineers and approved and accepted by the Technical Committee on Cultural Heritage and all other stakeholders. The overall project is carried out with funds from the Church of Cyprus.
