Part A. Integrating Overarching Principles to Strengthen Social and Environmental Sustainability

QUESTION 1: How Does the Project Integrate the Overarching Principles in order to Strengthen Social and Environmental Sustainability?

Briefly describe in the space below how the Project mainstreams the human-rights based approach

The Program mainstreams a human rights-based approach by enhancing the capacities and the role of Pacific EMBs and electoral stakeholders in the protection and realisation of human rights by developing the institutional structures, processes, and mechanism to put human rights at the centre of their core functions. The project works with EMBs to effectively fulfil its constitutional mandate of conducting periodical, free, fair, and credible elections, and upholding citizens right to vote and be elected in a genuine election, a necessary and fundamental component of an environment that protects and promotes human rights. The right to vote and be elected in genuine, periodic elections is intrinsically linked to a number of other human rights, the enjoyment of which is crucial to a meaningful electoral process. These prerequisite rights include the right to freedom from discrimination, the right to freedom of opinion and expression, the right to freedom of association and of peaceful assembly, and the right to freedom of movement.

Briefly describe in the space below how the Project is likely to improve gender equality and women's empowerment

The project has targeted work to promote gender equality ensure that women of all ages are more engaged in democratic processes. It also had a dedicated activity working to mainstream gender quality and empowerment in political process "3.2 - Women empowered to engage more effectively in political and electoral activities, as voters, party members and candidates."

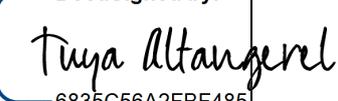

Briefly describe in the space below how the Project mainstreams environmental sustainability

The project does not have any direct negative environmental effects.
