3. Programme Management and Oversight

(This section should be completed by programme in coordination with UNDP)

• Monitoring and Evaluation

(Indicate how progress monitoring and acquisition of data from project interventions are being captured and utilized.)

During the reporting period, the implementation of programme activities has been monitored through the following mechanisms:

- At the programme level, regular communication and coordination among the project management teams and relevant staffs of programme components including government officials concerned have been in place particularly through internal meetings, email correspondence and telephone conversation to follow-up and discuss progress of the programme components' plan implementation to ensure the programme components' planned activities have been properly implemented as planned.
- At the project/component level, the project weekly technical meetings between department relevant divisions and UNDP PO/PA were conducted to follow-up and discuss in details the progress and challenges of the project implementation before reporting to the project manager and Assistant Resident Representative for consideration and guidance. In addition, the project monthly meetings between UNDP DRR/ARR/POs/PAs and each project management team were regularly organized to also follow-up, review the implementation progress and agree on actions to be undertaken in order to address issues encountering the project. Moreover, a day-to-day communication and coordination between programme components and UNDP via both email and telephone, as well as some adhoc meetings between the DIC and UNDP held to discuss and address some issues have also been in place.

• Risk management

(Actual/ anticipated operational, political and environmental risks)

During the second quarter of 2015, some of the programme components faced a number of issues as follows:

- Delaying in conducting some field activities, especially related to green growth activities implementation in provinces as a component 1 is prioritizing very much in the formulation of the 8th NSEDP at the central.
- Lacking technical persons or project support staffs to support the implementation of relevant components' planned activities on a timely manner. For instance, a component 2 has been facing a difficulty in reporting both financially and substantively on a timely basis given the fact that the component has no project support staff recruited to support the project activities implementation. Instead, using relevant government officials to be responsible for component activities implementation. In addition, a component 3 has also faced a difficulty in communicating and coordinating with both government agencies in line ministries and development partners including private sector and civil society organisations particularly across SWGs in more professional approaches due to a lack of a competent communication officer. These caused the delay in implementing and reporting on progress of the programme component activities implementation that could also resulted in a low programme delivery rate.

• Communication and advocacy

Apart from a day-to-day communication, weekly and monthly meetings between the programme component management teams and UNDP relevant programme officers have been in place as mentioned in the first bullet point above, according to the programme document and Q2 work plan, the programme components have developed and used a number of communication and publication materials including organizing training/workshops to communicate
